

Week of 5/28/2018 Operations Update

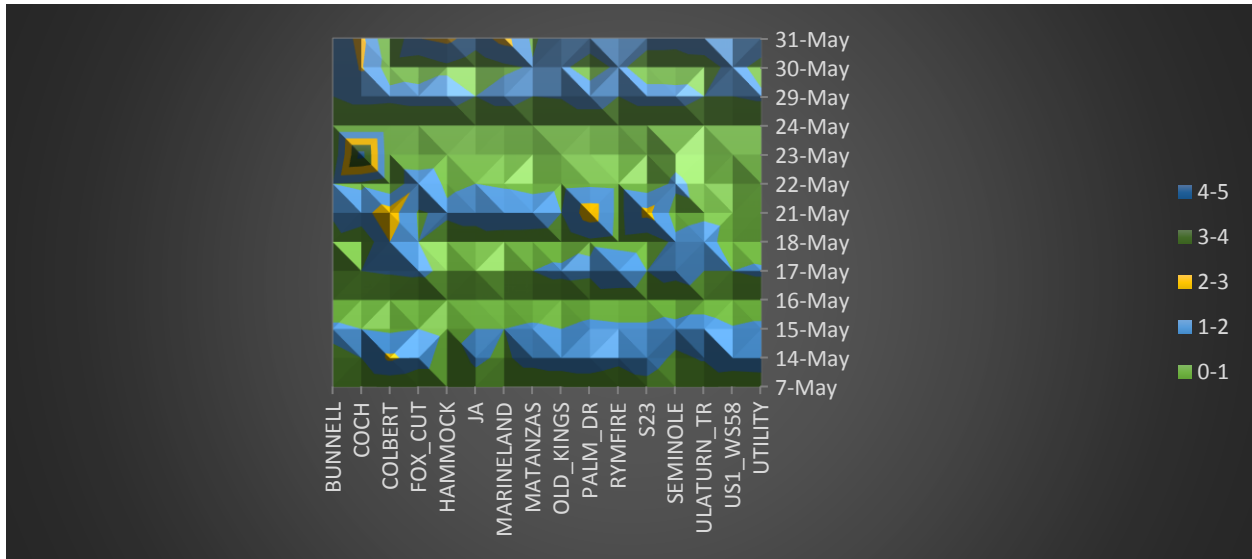

Another uptick in the population this week from flood water mosquitoes on the West side of the District. More rain expected next week on top of the large amount of rain we have already received.

May received a considerable amount of rain.

The contour chart below shows the waves of rain. May 21 produced a significant amount of rain. You can see how this corresponds to the increase in population by May 31.

Yellow zones were treated by truck in the AM by truck. Blue polygons were treated by helicopter in the PM.
